Who & Where

View of grounds in sunset, Claydon Estate, Buckinghamshire

This empowering experience is hosted at the Lucinda Brown Studio, set in the grounds of beautiful Claydon House Estate (National Trust), famous for being the summer residence of Florence Nightingale, in the beautiful countryside of Buckinghamshire. The workshops are jointly, led by:

Lucinda Brown - Since graduation, It has been my greatest pleasure to create the artwork I sell to clients and galleries across the UK and internationally. I began my journey with clay as a mature student aged 42, now with more than 20 years experience, I feel worthy of passing on my skills and allowing individuals to create their own masterpieces as they learn the techniques that has taken me years to master. From an early age, my appreciation for arts and crafts was apparent.

Textiles absorbed my interest for many years before I found myself on an art foundation course which led me to attend the University of Wolverhampton for further study. I have lived above my studio on the Claydon Estate since 2001. It's a beautiful, peaceful place to be.

Living alone since 2008 has allowed me to focus on personal growth and discover a harmony which is so elusive these days. A few years ago, a beautiful soul shaped like a cat came into my life, Cats! the Zen teachers of the world. Gardening is another passion, so creating wall art to decorate the ancient brick walls just came naturally.

Geeta Pendaer – A trained Practitioner in Dancing Mindfulness in Clinical and Community Settings, Reiki Master, NLP Coach and Founder of 2Justbe.

As a 'looked after child' in the 1970's, having to deal with all types of abuse from those that should have protected and cared for me, I quickly realised that mental resilience was the only way forward for me, which I found through dance and music as a child; in my case I shut out everything put on the music and danced with my soul in my special space. I looked through my own 'rose tinted glasses' at the world, outwardly, not paying attention to my 'inner child.' This led to my vulnerability and emotional fragility that determined how I dealt with people, and they me. However, on the positive side, my life as an independent, strong, passionate woman lends itself to, achieving much, travelling loads and learning every day. Sadly, there was a void, a dull ache inside of me that needed healing. So, I decided to seek 'supervision' of a different kind and stop 'kidding' myself and start 'being kinder to myself.' I embarked on my holistic journey, attending many Mindfulness Retreats, being very 'present' and fully understanding the meaning; then flying to Pittsburgh to train in Dancing Mindfulness with Dr Jamie Marich and completing my NLP Training with Dr Richard Bandler (learning only from the best). I got 'it,' not just the certificates, but the wake-up call, 'I woke up,' finally, embracing and making peace with all the experiences, the challenges, the gains and losses. I drew on all of the above and started my new healing journey, to help others to cultivate theirs and take control, in total realisation, of their journey to nurturing nourishment for their mind body and soul.
